Country exit code +61 28907 5686
Reverse the charges, if necessary.

When should I call World Travel Protection

If you fall sick, are injured, concerned about your personal safety, or require advice/assistance regarding anything to do with your travel, you should call World Travel Protection immediately to:

- Notify us if you have been unexpectedly injured or are in hospital
- Arrange hospitalisation
- Arrange a transfer if the local facilities are inappropriate
- Arrange a medical repatriation to get you home if you are unable to continue your trip
- Arrange payment guarantees for medical expenses
- Provide help if your personal safety is at risk
- Request assistance if faced with a major crisis or catastrophic event
- Contact your family or employer to keep them informed
- Liaise with your travel insurer if required.

To help us to assist you promptly, please have the following information available when you call:

- Name of person requiring assistance
- Your company name
- The World Travel Protection Corporate Program number, printed on your card
- A return phone number so we can call you back if we need to
- Your location
- The reason for your call.

What if I need to see a doctor?

Contact World Travel Protection as soon as possible and we will help you to find the nearest, most appropriate, English-speaking medical practitioner. In key locations where the quality of medical care is very variable, World Travel Protection will help you select appropriate medical care and locate English-speaking medical services as available.

Travel GP

For minor incidents and injuries our travel GPs may be able to diagnose and provide you with a treatment plan without having to visit a doctor overseas. One of our nurses will assess your injury or illness to determine suitability and when appropriate, set up a travel GP consultation for you.

Global coverage

World Travel Protection is a member of the International Assistance Group, the largest assistance organisation in the world. With 60 alarm centres and a global network of correspondents and accredited providers worldwide, we will always be there to help you.
